DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1, 15 and 29 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1, 15 and 29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Park.

Claim 1, Park discloses a power supply apparatus (figure 2), comprising: a DC-to-DC converter (20) arranged and configured to perform a voltage conversion for converting a voltage of a source power (10) supplied from a direct current power source to a first predetermined voltage (V_{out}), said first predetermined voltage being lower than said voltage of said source power; and a voltage regulator (72) arranged and configured to carrying out a voltage regulation for regulating said first predetermined voltage of said source power to at least a second predetermined voltage, said second predetermined voltage being lower than said first predetermined voltage (e.g. 3.3v).

Claim 15, Park discloses a power supply apparatus (figure 2), comprising: converting means (20) for performing a DC-to-DC conversion to achieve a voltage conversion for converting a voltage of a source power (10) supplied from a direct current power source to a first predetermined voltage (V_{out}), said first predetermined voltage being lower than said voltage of said source power; and regulating means (72) for carrying out a voltage regulation for regulating said first predetermined voltage of said source power to at least a second predetermined voltage, said second predetermined voltage being lower than said first predetermined voltage (e.g. 3.3v).

Claim 29, Park discloses a method of power supply, comprising the steps of: performing a DC-to-DC conversion with a DC-to-DC converter (20) to achieve a voltage conversion for converting a voltage of a source power supplied from a direct current power source to a first predetermined voltage (V_{out}), said first predetermined voltage being lower than said voltage of said source power; and regulating said first predetermined voltage of said source power to at least a second predetermined voltage, said second predetermined voltage being lower than said first predetermined voltage (e.g. 3.3v).

4. Claims 1, 15 and 29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Uchida.

Claim 1, Uchida discloses a power supply apparatus (figure 1), comprising: a DC-to-DC converter (1-1) arranged and configured to perform a voltage conversion for converting a voltage of a source power (106) supplied from a direct current power source to a first predetermined voltage (107), said first predetermined voltage being lower than said voltage of said source power; and a voltage regulator (1-2) arranged and configured to carrying out a voltage regulation for regulating said first predetermined voltage of said source power to at least a second predetermined voltage, said second predetermined voltage being lower than said first predetermined voltage (col. 1 lines 64-70; col. 2 lines 1-7; col. 3 lines 34-47; col. 4 lines 6-26).

Claim 15, Uchida discloses a power supply apparatus (figure 1), comprising: converting means for performing a DC-to-DC conversion (1-1) to achieve a voltage conversion for converting a voltage of a source power supplied (106) from a direct current power source to a first predetermined voltage (107), said first predetermined voltage being lower than said voltage of said source power; and regulating means (1-2) for carrying out a voltage regulation for regulating said first predetermined voltage of said source power to at least a second predetermined voltage, said second predetermined voltage being lower than said first predetermined voltage (col. 1 lines 64-70; col. 2 lines 1-7; col. 3 lines 34-47; col. 4 lines 6-26).

Claim 29, Uchida discloses a method of power supply, comprising the steps of: performing a DC-to-DC conversion with a DC-to-DC converter (1-1) to achieve a voltage conversion for converting a voltage of a source power (106) supplied from a direct current power source to a first predetermined voltage (107), said first predetermined voltage being lower than said voltage of said source power; and regulating said first predetermined voltage of said source power to at least a second predetermined voltage, said second predetermined voltage being lower than said first predetermined voltage (col. 1 lines 64-70; col. 2 lines 1-7; col. 3 lines 34-47; col. 4 lines 6-26).
